

“Visible Learning is when teachers see learning through the eyes of the student and when students see themselves as their own teachers.” Professor John Hattie

The first GCSE programme of study has been published in the new Knowledge and Learning site by BBC Bitesize.

This easy-to-digest content is designed for KS4 students to learn skills for running a business, such as managing money and marketing.

There are new sections with resources available on our Visible Learning website. Under the Secondary Schools button, there are some resources recommended to us by students on the Fellowship Forum. One is a free mind-mapping app called Xmind, and the other is a useful revision tool called Memrise.

There are also new sections under development for Governors and a new section for policies and training.

As we further develop our resources over the summer, they will appear on the Visible Learning website.

We intend this to be a resource that staff, parents, and governors can easily access.

In the next edition we hope to showcase an exciting resource called Learning at Wrenn (L@W) which Wrenn School is generously sharing with other Education Fellowship schools. We will link Visible Learning with this resource.
